(Round 2) Dawn

What are you doing? Why are you self-reflecting!

Why are you always sorry and grateful to me?

You still don't know? This is why the kids are cursing us!

Everything else! I've always wanted to ask,

Are you pretending to like me because of the tteok-goong that falls next to me!

Do you really want me to talk to you guys?

Really, I'm just curious,

Answer me,

Men's monologue (2)

(Taewang Sasaengi) In the movie, Damdeok

Just remember three things.

First, we don't fight with our enemies with spears.

Our weapon in this battle is fear.

We're gonna be the most terrifying army in the sky

The world will call us the dogma of terror.

Second, the victory of this battle depends on the speed.

It takes the enemy's citadel in seven days and takes away the enemy's citadel in 20 days.

And the last third... Don't die, there's no need for a man who gives up his life and fights.

You live and stay with me until the end,

It's-- I-- it's your king's order.

Women's monologue (1)

(Growing up feeling 18 years old)

I got a burn when I was a kid. My family had to heat up the hot water and manage it in the kitchen to take a bath then.

You've never lived in a house like that, so I don't understand...

(tough talk, holding back tears) That day too my mom warmed up the bath and called me...

It was winter...The kitchen tiles are very slippery...

As I walked in, I fell...Boiling water into my body...

My mom was embarrassed at the time and just took off my clothes, but...Even so...(Getting emotional)

If only I could turn the clock back...

I wouldn't have set foot in the kitchen that day...

If I could miss that time...

I've already had several plastic surgeries.

He eats hundreds of millions of dollars for money he doesn't have...

(I bite my teeth to hold back my tears)

Female monologue (2)

(Taewangsa Temple) In the movie, Suzy

Can you take a look at it?

It's all healed, right?

He's been like that since he was a kid. No matter how much you get cut, stabbed, hurt, you stay up for one night

It'll heal afterwards. It'll be a problem if you get poisoned,

It's just for Hwacheon people.....

As for me, I think wages should be like this.

When you become a king, you have to kill a lot more people than you do now.

If you go to war, the king says, "Advise," all those soldiers will go out and fight and die because of you..

Every time you whine and sit down, what wage would you pay for that?

I mean, the king. Um... Regardless of the pain, I think you should have the ability to heal in a day.

And I think we should be able to get up again and go on the way we need to go out.

"Still follow me. I'm a king."

Oh... I said so many good things that my head hurts...I'll go to bed..
